

CALEY CONWAY

“Caley Conway is on her way to becoming the next big thing in Folk music.”

-No Depression Magazine

“Volcano Song, is an ambitious piece that puts Conway on the map for 2017, and we're ready for more!”

-Paste Magazine

“Bringing a brilliant songwriting spirit that focuses on melody and earnestness, Conway's music is relatable to a wide audience beyond the Roots world.”

-No Depression Magazine

“Conway's vocal work goes above and beyond the call of duty to bring the record to life, as her songwriting ability takes center stage.”

-No Depression Magazine

“Milwaukee singer-songwriter Caley Conway writes about heavy subjects—relationships, betrayals, people pushed to the brink, the burden of expectations—but she does so with an extraordinarily light touch, delivering her quippy lyrics behind a barely concealed smirk.”

-Shepherd Express

“...a breath of fresh air in a scene where chorus / verse / chorus is pretty standard.”

-91.7 WMSE

“With her incomparable pipes, Conway could sing the Yellow Pages with pleasant results.”

-Milwaukee Record

“With a voice that lulls you into a daydream and lyrics that bring you back to earth, she combines sharp wit with warm melodies to form a style distinctly her own.”

-Breaking & Entering

“Vocally, Conway is an underrated treasure, and her arrangements... come across beautifully on this EP. It's a warm, atmospheric take on traditional, and definitely a breath of fresh air on all four of these tracks.”

-Breaking & Entering

“...at once casual and poignant.”

-Milwaukee Magazine

“With a rare voice and sharp, detailed lyrics, (Conway) commands the center of her songs with a quiet ease that suggests she's been at this for a while.”

-Milwaukee Magazine

"Conway has one of those voices you picture singing in the foothills of Appalachia, but there's this urban, almost Dylan like sensibility to her lyrics and songwriting. Except I get the feeling she's a much nicer person."

-Sixth Station Blog

"...but darn it, her voice is so sweet that you put up with lyrics that kick you. It's like having a pie in your face, but you deal with it because it's really good pie."

-Sixth Station Blog